SUBJECT: Briefing for SA (U)

. Sensitize intelligence managers and consumers to intelligence applications of psychoenergetics.

. High performance.

. Personal gain (as a fringe benefit).

(2) (S/CL-3/NOFORN) What do you really gain from RAPT?

. Conducive state for Remote Viewing.

. "Tool kit" that you must learn to apply.

(Including stress reduction, concentration, enhanced learning ability, etc.).

(3) (U) The use of Hemi-Synch to learn language (apparently SA is interested in this aspect for himself).

(4) (S/CL-3/NOFORN) Why do you need to sensitize intelligence managers concerning CENTER LANE? Give an example.

. ISA request for CENTER LANE support used as an example.

. Different kind of product.

. Compartmented tasking.

. Capabilities and limitations.

d. (S/CL-1/NOFORN) SA raised the issue of whether CENTER LANE met the Congressional guidelines and satisfied the Human Use legal standards. We answered yes to both question areas and reminded him of the discussion we had with Mr. Spurlock and him on these points during the 5 Oct 83 briefing.

3. (U) The briefing seemed to be extremely well received by SA and his parting words were that he would be talking to us again soon.

4. (U) After the briefing LTC Brewer desired to continue the conversation in the SA foyer. Points addressed included:

SUBJECT: Briefing for SA (U)

a. (C) Date of the next RAPT session. We told him 20 Jan 84, but suggested that the RAPT was too long a course for SA to go to. (Our private feelings are that the presence of SA at a RAPT would possibly be disruptive and we question whether he would be able to fully participate, especially in terms of the desired isolation from the outside world. Though not mentioned, it is also a possibility that SA would want to send LTC Brewer to a RAPT.) We also commented that cover and compartmentation must be considered and LTC Brewer agreed.

b. (S/CL-3/NOFORN) We offered for consideration the idea of a one-on-one between SA and Mr. Monroe, possibly with an overnight stay at MIAS. LTC Brewer thought that this was a very viable alternative. We requested that such a meeting be coordinated through CENTER LANE because of their close relationship with Mr. Monroe.
